BREEAM (Environmental Assessment of Building Research Establishments Methodology) is the world's leading sustainability assessment and certification.

Building method developed by the UK BRE Global organization.

The Delfin Natura promotion will be screened following the established criteria by the BREEAM certificate, evaluating various characteristics defined in the different construction phases of the building, from the design and projection of the building, through the choice of the use of materials for the conditioning and post maintenance

The BREEAM certification seal is voluntary and goes beyond what is mandatory rules. With this, Delfin Natura shows its commitment to the environment and the surroundings of El Albir and Sierra Helada.
